PROPOSED EXHIBITION MEETING.

At a recent meeting of the Fellows, it was proposed to devote a meeting of the Club in the latter part of the winter to an exhibition of objects of interest belonging to members, and in some way associated with their travels.

In order to test the practicability of this plan, the Executive Committee requests information on the following points:

- (1) Would you be willing to take part in the proposed exhibition, and to give personal explanation of the things that you exhibit?
- (2) What sort of objects would you exhibit? (Pictures, equipments, hunting trophies, products of distant countries, ethnology, etc., etc.)
- (3) How much space (tables or racks) would you need?

An early answer would be a favor to the Committee.

"It was announced that the proposed Exhibition had been postponed indefinitely." (Minutes of fifteenth meeting, 16 December 1904.) Book 1, p36, item 47.

"At a recent meeting of the Council, it was decided to devote a special meeting of the Club to an exhibition of objects of interest belonging to members, and in some way associated with their travels. The exhibition will be held in Horticultural Hall, corner Massachusetts and Huntington avenues, Boston, on Wednesday, March 18, and will be open from 3.00 to 6.30 in the afternoon, and from 8 to 10 in the evening. Tea will be served at 4.30. Short illustrated talks will be given by members in the evening between 8.30 and 9.30.

Members will be provided with cards of admission for themselves and their friends, including ladies, on application to the Secretary of the Club, 20 Newbury street, Boston.

Each exhibitor is requested to remain near his exhibit during most of the time the hall is open, in order to give personal explanation of his contributions to those who make inquiries about them....." (Book2, p50, item 88)

Regarding the Club exhibition: "January is an unusually busy month with me, so I doubt very much whether I shall be able to attend the exhibition. The only heads which I could offer for exhibit are the usual Rocky Mountain heads of goat, elk and sheep. In fact, only one of them is more than an average head. I have a very fine ram's head."

"The exhibition of the Harvard Travellers Club will be held on Monday and Tuesday, April 3 and 4 respectively, at Copley Hall. As in our previous exhibition three years ago, there will be exhibited by various members many interesting things which they have collected on their travels or hunting expeditions in different parts of the world. It is also planned to have illustrated talks by members of the club on the afternoon and evening of both days, the subjects and lecturers to be announced later." "Not having heard from you in answer to our appeal sent to members, February twenty-seventh, for funds for which to run the exhibition, we take this occasion to remind you of it and ask you to send in your subscriptions. Your Committee having only received subscriptions from twenty-five members thought it necessary to call this matter to the attention of the members a second time. ...

Your Committee are doing their part, but in order to insure the success of the exhibition it is necessary to have the co-operation of each and every member, both as to subscriptions and exhibits.

Trusting that we shall hear from you at once, as our exhibition is to come off on the third and fourth of April next, we remain,

Harvard Travellers' Club Gives Unique Exhibition.

In the evening there were illustrated stories of travel and adventure by Mr. Thomas Barbour and Mr. Ellsworth Huntington. Mr. Barbour graduated from Harvard in '06, and after his marriage the following October to Miss Rosomond Pierce of Brookline, they left for year's trip around the world. Part of the time was spent in NewGuinea and Mr. Barbour's talk was on that country. The young man is at present taking a course in zoology at the Harvard graduate school. Mr. Huntington's talk was on the sand-buried ruins of Central Asia. Some of those there in the evening were Mrs. Barbour in pale bluecloth with velvet of the same tone and whit lace; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Pierce, with their daughters, Mrs. Pierce in black chiffon and lace with yoke and sleeves of white lace, Miss Sally Pierce in dark brown cloth with cream lace; Miss Dorothy Pierce in dark gray, and Miss Mary Pierce in blue; Mr. Joseph S. Bigelow with his son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Bremer, the latter in a princess gown of coral colored cloth; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Warren, Mrs. Warren in hyacinth blue silk with lace dyed to match and touches of white ...

The exhibits, which were placed on tables about the hall, were most interesting, including as they did souvenirs and trophies from distant countries, as well as many photographs taken by the various travellers. Among the exhibitors were Mr. Thomas Barbour, who showed a natural history collection from the South Seas, the beautiful birds of paradise being especially admired; Mr. Robert Parkman Blake, whose hunting trophies from Alaska were most interesting; Dr. John Lewis Bremer, whose collection of coins is a most complete one; Dr. Hugh Cabot, a camping outfit; Mr. William B. Cabot, snow shoes and clothing among other things from Labrador; Mr. Francis T. Colby, the son of Commander and Mrs. Harrison G.O. Colby, and Mrs. Frederic H. Curtis, who showed Alaskan exhibits; Dr. John C. Phillips ... who loaned some wonderful embroideries, hangings, clothes and lacquer trays and caskets from China and Japan, where he spent several years; Dr. Charles A. Porter, whose exhibition of Pith Temple in India was most interesting; Prof. A. Lawrence Rotch, who showed and explained the instruments used in exploring the air, a huge balloon being suspended above the table; Dr. Augustus L. Thorndike, who has a wonderful collection of jewelry from Algeria and Tunisia; and Dr. Townsend Thorndike, who gave a historical exhibit of Arctic exploration and travel. The other exhibitors were Mr. Glover M. Allen, Mr. S.I. Bailey, Prof. Charles W. Brown, Mr. G.C. Curtis, Prof. W.M. Davis, Mr. Roland B. Dixon, Mr. E.B. Drew, Mr. Francis E. Frothingham, Mr. George P. Howe, Mr. Harris and Mrs. Sinclair Kennedy, Mr. J. Duke Smith, Dr. W.L. Smith, Mr. V. Stefansson, Mr. A.M. Tozzer, Mr. George Winship and Mr. Frederick A. Woods."

EXHIBITIONS

Very early in the Club's history the intention was announced of holding a public exhibition of trophies or other interesting mementoes of travel gathered by members in the course of their wanderings. The purpose of this was in part to stimulate interest in the Club and its objects, in part that its members might become better acquainted with each other's special interests.

Under the active initiative of Secretary Thorndike, the plan was tested by sending out notices to all members in the autumn of 1904, asking each if he would take part, what he would exhibit, and how much space he might require. The replies evidently were encouraging, but plans for the exhibition did not mature until four years later, when on March 18, 1908, the forty-second meeting of the Club was devoted to this purpose. The use of Horticultural Hall, Boston, was secured and over thirty members contributed larger or smaller exhibits ranging from photographs to camping outfit, and from observation instruments to specimens illustrating natural history or anthropology. An especially interesting collection was shown by Dr. Townsend W. Thorndike, consisting of historical souvenirs of Arctic exploration and travel in search of the Northwest Passage, including portraits and autographs of many Arctic explorers. A committee of the wives of members acted as hostesses, tea was served, and brief talks were given by Dr. Thomas Barbour on his expedition to New Guinea and by Mr. Ellsworth Huntington on his then recent journey in Turkestan. Some one noted with a humorous twinkle the disparity in bodily size between the two speakers. Over a thousand people came to the exhibition and the number of specimens shown was estimated at over five thousand.

The success of the first exhibition prompted the Club to adopt it as a triennial event. Accordingly in 1911, preparations were made for a second and even better affair, which was held at Copley Hall, Boston, and was open for two days, April 3 and 4. Professor Davis opened the meeting in the afternoon with a short address, followed by Professor J. W. Woods on India and Messrs G. C. Mixter and C. R. Cross, Jr., on hunting Alaskan bears. Tea was served, and in the evening two other short talks were given, by Professor Thomas A. Jaggar on volcanoes and Mr. J. W. Worthington on canoeing in New England. On the afternoon of the second day, Mr. George Mixter told of travel afoot in British Columbia and Mr. Francis T. Colby spoke on hunting in Africa. The evening speakers were Dr. Wm. Lord Smith on climbing in the Dolomites, and Mr. Charles W. Furlong on the Fuegians of Tierra del Fuego. Dancing followed the evening talks and the Boston papers gave accounts of the exhibition.

The third exhibition was held again in Copley Hall, April 6, 7, and 8, 1914; and again the hall was filled with trophies and objects of interest, with as before, an additional entertainment in the shape of a lecture in the afternoon and again in the evening of each day, with tea in the afternoon. The list of patronesses numbered eighteen of the wives of members. The speakers were: April 6, Professor Theodore Lyman, A journey to the Altai Mountains and Mr. Ernest Harold Baynes, on Bird Conservation; April 7, Mr. John T. Coolidge, Jr., Photography of African game, and Professor Roland B. Dixon, on a journey in the northern Himalayas; April 8, Mr. H. W. Du Bois, Hunting with a camera in British Columbia and Professor Hiram Bingham, Recent explorations in the land of the Incas.

With the disruption of plans following the World War, this interesting triennial event has lapsed, but in 1927 the Club was invited to join with other exhibitors at the Sportsman's Show in Mechanics Hall, Boston, and filled the space assigned to it with various objects, the principal of which was a large wall map of the world on which were outlined the routes of many of the Club's members, each numbered to correspond with a key to the names. This map, framed, later hung in the smoking room of the University Museum at Harvard, but is now, with other Club records, at the new Institute of Geographical Exploration at Harvard. It had been one of the plans of Secretary Thorndike to have on file for each member a map with his routes of travel charted thereon, but although maps were supplied to members, and some were returned for filing, It was found impracticable to keep them up to date. The Club's Yearbook, however, supplies the information.

My dear Dr. Lyman:

I am enclosing to you a final statement and account of the amounts received from members of the Harvard Travellers Club and from the Club Treasurer, together with an itemized statement of the bills which I have paid in connection with the club exhibition which our committee ran April fourth and fifth last. I am also enclosing to you herewith a check for seventeen dollars and thirty-two cents ($17.32), which is the balance in my hands after paying the bills as per statement enclosed. There was one bill of twenty-two dollars and forty-seven cents ($22.47) for printing which was paid by the treasurer out of the general funds of the club, and I hoped to have enough of a balance to turn back twenty-two dollars and forty-seven cents ($22.47) but as it is I can only send you the enclosed check. I have, of course, the receipted bills for all moneys disbursed in this matter and can send them to you or the treasurer if you see fit.

Trusting that the within account will be satisfactory and that you will send it to the proper parties, I remain,

To the Members of the Harvard Travellers Club:

GENTLEMEN:

As you will see by the enclosed notice it has been decided by the Fellows of the Harvard Travellers Club that it is advisable to hold an exhibition this year of the same nature as that given by the Club three years ago. The cost of the previous exhibition was between eight and nine hundred dollars and to assure its success this year the expense will be approximately the same.

However it is hoped that it will be possible to save somewhat by eliminating certain items which the members of the Committee on Exhibition do not consider essential to the success of the undertaking. The financial condition of the Club is not such that it can afford to stand the entire expense and therefore it seems necessary to call upon the members of the Club for aid. We appeal to you if you are interested in the matter to subscribe and to subscribe as liberally as possible.

Checks should be made payable to the Harvard Travellers Club and sent to Mr. S. PRESCOTT FAY, 53 State Street, Boston. The Committee will appreciate it if the members will send in their subscription as soon as possible so that the plans can be carried out at once.

In view of the success of the last exhibition of the Harvard Travellers Club, it has been decided to hold a similar exhibition this spring. It is planned to engage Copley Hall for this purpose for Monday and Tuesday, April 6 and 7. As it is a difficult task to get together the necessary material, it is earnestly requested that all members who have anything that might have a place therein will aid in making the exhibition a success by notifying the chairman or some other member of the committee appointed to take charge before March 10.

Boston, February 24, 1914

DEAR SIR :

The results from the letter we sent out a short time ago asking for contributions to defray the expenses of the coming Triennial Exhibition have been so far extremely disappointing, as only thirteen members have responded. It has since been decided to hold the exhibition three days instead of two, as a number of members felt it would be advisable, because the additional work and expense involved would be very slight.

Now in order to insure its success the Committee feels that it is absolutely essential to have the financial backing of the members of the club. All preliminary arrangements have been made and the general plans have been outlined, so that we feel confident of the success, provided the members will give their support. We do not ask any one to give a large amount or make a contribution beyond his means, but we do feel that the whole burden should not fall upon a small number.

It has been the policy in the past not to charge admission, and that same policy will be pursued again this year. It seems fair and reasonable to assume that a large percentage of the members will be on hand on one of the three days, or surely some of their friends will be present. In view of the privilege of being able to provide a number of friends with complimentary tickets, it seems that every one should be willing to make some kind of a contribution, no matter how small.

Hoping that we shall hear from you shortly as evidence of your interest and support.

To the Members :

The final arrangements have been made for the Triennial Exhibition of the Harvard Travellers Club, to be held this year at Copley Hall on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, the 6th, 7th, and 8th of April.

At the present time the prospects for an interesting exhibition are very bright. You will find enclosed a program and tickets. In order to insure a large attendance every one is urgently requested to distribute his tickets among those of his friends whom he thinks will be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to come. Plenty more tickets are available and will be mailed immediately to any one notifying S. Prescott Fay, 53 State Street (telephone Main 6815). The committee hope that all the members of the Club will give their support to the Exhibition by coming not only once, but several times, and by bringing their friends.

MEMBERS OF THE HARVARD TRAVELLERS CLUB

Gentlemen:

The Triennial Exhibition of 1914 is now a thing of the past and the Committee hopes that it met with the general approval of the Club. Up to the present time contributions to defray the expenses of the exhibition have been received totalling a little more than $500. This amount was received through the generosity of only some 60 persons, whereas the resident membership of the Club is 190 and the non-resident 87. The above mentioned amount already received by subscription is of course not nearly sufficient to defray the expenditures necessary to carry through such an exhibition as was given this year, and will leave a large amount to be paid out of the Club treasury, which, although able to meet this expense, can ill afford it.

It is hoped that in view of the general interest shown in the exhibition this year that members who have not yet contributed will now feel inclined to do so.

TRAVELLERS' CLUB HAS WORLD EXHIBIT

Harvard Organization Shows Trophies in Horticult- ural Hall.

With practically everything that can be imagined in the line of a souvenir, relic or trophy, the Harvard Travellers' Club gave its exhibit in the southern room of Horticultural Hall yesterday afternoon and evening. There were exhibits ranging from the plateaus of Thibet to the plains of South America. No country on the globe but had some one in the club sufficiently interested in it to make an exhibit therefrom, whether of souvenirs or hunting trophies.

The afternoon exhibit opened at 3 o'clock, and at 4:30 tea was served for the visitors. In the evening illustrated lectures were given by Profs. Huntington and Barbour.

Dr. W. L. Smith had a notable collection of wild animal skins and heads. Francis T. Colby had an exhibit of heads from animals he had killed in almost every big game country on the globe. Prof. A. Lawrence Rotch of Blue Hill observatory had on exhibit the apparatus for the exploration of the upper air. Dr. Frederick A. Wood's collection of photographs showed the family resemblance of the Hapsburg line, particularly the famous "Hapsburg lip," prominent in 15 generations.

Other exhibitors were Glover M. Allen, S. I. Bailey, Thomas Barbour, Dr. J. Lewis Bremer, Prof. Charles W. Brown, Francis T. Colby, G. C. Curtis, Frederic H. Curtis, Prof. W. M. Davis, Roland E. Dixon, Francis E. Frothingham, George P. Howe, Ellsworth Huntington, Harris Kennedy, Sinclair Kennedy, John Phillips, Dr. C. A. Porter, J. Duke Smith, V. Stefansson, Dr. Augustus L. Thorndike, Dr. T. W. Thorndike, Dr. Charles W. Townsend, A. M. Tozzer and Dr. P. Winship.
