

TRAVELLERS' CLUB HAS WORLD EXHIBIT

Harvard Organization Shows Trophies in Horticult- ural Hall.

With practically everything that can be imagined in the line of a souvenir, relic or trophy, the Harvard Travellers' Club gave its exhibit in the southern room of Horticultural Hall yesterday afternoon and evening. There were exhibits ranging from the plateaus of Tibet to the plains of South America. No country on the globe but had some one in the club sufficiently interested in it to make an exhibit therefrom, whether of souvenirs or hunting trophies.

The afternoon exhibit opened at 3 o'clock, and at 4:30 tea was served for the visitors. In the evening illustrated lectures were given by Profs. Huntington and Barbour.

Dr. W. L. Smith had a notable collection of wild animal skins and heads. Francis T. Colby had an exhibit of heads from animals he had killed in almost every big game country on the globe. Prof. A. Lawrence Rotch of Blue Hill observatory had on exhibit the apparatus for the exploration of the upper air. Dr. Frederick A. Wood's collection of photographs showed the family resemblance of the Hapsburg line, particularly the famous "Hapsburg lip," prominent in 15 generations.

Other exhibitors were Glover M. Allen, S. I. Bailey, Thomas Barbour, Dr. J. Lewis Bremer, Prof. Charles W. Brown, Francis T. Colby, G. C. Curtis, Frederic H. Curtis, Prof. W. M. Davis, Roland B. Dixon, Francis E. Frothingham, George P. Howe, Ellsworth Huntington, Harris Kennedy, Sinclair Kennedy, John Phillips, Dr. C. A. Porter, J. Duke Smith, V. Stefansson, Dr. Augustus L. Thorndike, Dr. T. W. Thorndike, Dr. Charles W. Townsend, A. M. Tozzer and P. Winship.

MANCHURIA IN THE JAP WAR

Maj Lynch, USA, Tells His Experiences.

Class '90 Man Guest of Harvard Travelers' Club.

Pres Eliot Speaks at the Brunswick.

The presence of so many distinguished Harvard men at the first dinner of the Harvard travelers' club held at the hotel Brunswick last evening, was a high compliment to that organization and a tribute to Maj Charles Lynch, USA, of the medical department of the general staff, who entertained the members and guests after dinner with his interesting lecture on "Manchuria During the Russo-Japanese War." Maj Lynch is a graduate of the class of '90.

Pres William M. Davis opened the exercises and referred to the presence of members of the Harvard corporation. Seated on either side of Pres Davis at the head table were Pres Charles W. Elliot, Maj Lynch, Prof William M. Davis, Maj Henry F. Higginson, Raphael Pumpelly, Prof A. E. Burton, Prof A. A. Noyes, Dr William Lord Smith, Prof Theodore Lyman, Dr H. P. Walcott, Prof S. V. Bailey, Prof F. W. Putnam, Judge F. C. Lowell, Prof Charles E. Fay and George Wigglesworth, while Charles Francis Adams and others equally distinguished had seats at the other tables.

Although he was not expected to address the members, Pres Elliot did say a few words in lighter vein, in which he complimented Harvard men in or-and ng so many new clubs. He spoke of the enlightenment of travel, and thought it was a good plan for Harvard to come together and talk over their experiences.

He referred to the organization of the East Asiatic Harvard club and the Cosmopolitan club of Harvard as new organizations and told of a cablegram he recently received from a Japanese Harvard club urging him to attend a dinner at Tokio. After speaking of the influence of Harvard men all over the world, he told of a very recent visit of an East Indian who, he said, did not want to enter the university, but was anxious to secure a position in a soap factory in order that he might learn the business and return to his native land.

"I feel that in securing permission of the war department," he said, "to get Maj Lynch to come over and lecture before our medical school and at the union we were particularly fortunate, owing to his broad experience and the opportunity afforded him in his field of observation."

Maj Lynch had an excellent set of pictures which were thrown on a screen and he took the members along through Manchuria in a delightfully entertaining manner. His observations covered a broad field, the picture of the Japanese forces to which he was attached being very thorough and his description of scenes and incidents of the war being replete with interesting detail.

He showed a map of the battle of Mukden and explained the maneuvers of both forces during the several days' fighting, taking particular pains to cover the work in the improvised hospitals and the Japanese methods of treatment.

He said that the Japs are not up to some western countries in the medical department of their army, but are not far behind. He commented on the shortcomings of our medical department in an interview with a Jap surgeon, who could not conceive how surgeons from civil life could be taken into the army without special training with any degree of efficiency.

At the business meeting the following officers were elected: William M. Davis pres, William Lord Smith vice pres, Townsend W. Thorndike sec-treas.

I fully understand that I am to talk on Friday night 8.15 at 350 Beacon Street. I am not quite certain whether I am to dine with the Travellers Club that night at the University Club, or where? If that dinner does not come off we wonder whether you would come & dine with us here that night. Yours sincerely

Dear Professor Davis

Many thanks for your most kind letter of the 12th. Yes I have really made a rash engagement to deliver lectures in your most learned city. I hope they won't find out what an impostor I am!
I wish I felt as sure of success, as I am of very hospitable reception. I am going to bring my wife & daughter with me,

& I quite dread all the kindness that I am sure will be offered to us. You say I'll be asked to meet various clubs & societies "and to speak to them" - Shall I not be a regular sucked orange talking straight on for 2 hours a week?

Remember I am not a professor like you to the manner of lecturing born - One invitation you kindly give to the Harvard Travellers'

Club which I cannot possibly refuse. I will try to say something there that may amuse - I suppose it need not be very long? The last Friday in February would suit me well, for I should have about finished my big lectures by then - I enclose my proposed programme, of which I have sent a copy to Mr Sedgwick - I hope you & he will approve -

Dear Sir,

Allow me to recommend for membership in the Club the name of Franklin Spilman Newell, a classmate of mine at Harvard, a life-long friend, and a man for whom I have the highest esteem.

He is one of the outstanding members of the class, a leader in the medical profession and to which he brought distinction; and, although not a great traveler himself, because of the limitations enforced upon him by professional duties precluding that, has great interest in travel. I understand that he has attended certain meetings of the club and would like very much to attend more.

Sincerely yours,

Walter Forbes

Dear Gardie:

In order to again express my gratitude to the Harvard Travellers Club for their grant of $100 towards the Asiatic Primate Expedition, I am sending you under separate cover a copy of one of the reports of the Asiatic Primate Expedition. There is also on deposit at the School of Geography a three-circle barometer which I purchased with some of the funds contributed by the Traveller's Club and which should be available for future authorized use by the expeditions sponsored by the Club. I shall always be grateful for the recognition of having been the beneficiary of a special grant from the Harvard Traveller's Club. The enclosed bibliography lists the published results of the expedition in the three years since our return from the field.

With kind regards,

Sincerely yours,
